

1. Total
Score1
_value
studentName

B. 2students - cannot start with a number
my-Name - hyphens not allowed
Class - Class is a Java keyword
Student name - No spaces allowed

2. `int numBeads;`
`numBeads = 5;`

B. `int numBeans = 5;`

3. `6 + 5 = 11`

B. `4 + 7 = 11c`

- 4. a) Number of basketballs in a department store → `int`
- b) Price of a basketball → `double`
- c) Number of players on a basketball team → `int`
- d) Average age of the players → `double`
- e) Whether a player has received a jersey → `boolean`
- f) First initial of a basketball player's first name → `char`

- 5. Primitive Data Types: These are data types predefined in Java and include int, double, char, and Boolean.

Abstract Data Types: These data types can store data and perform operations on it.

B. Classes can be considered to act as templates for creating objects and can specify the properties that an object will have. An object is an actual instance created from that class.

11. a) $y = (\text{int})(j * k);$

b) $z = j * k;$